RU MBA NEWSLETTER

COLLEGE OF BUSINESS AND ECONOMICS

From the MBA Office

Welcome Back from Spring Break! I'd like to take this opportunity to thank you for all the feedback you have provided us about the MBA program. Please know that your continued input is changing the RU MBA of the future.

As the semester resumes, I look forward to seeing you in Roanoke and Radford and encourage you to contact us with ideas of how we can better support your academic and professional goals. I feel confident that the MBA program will continue to grow stronger and better because of you.

First MBA Brown Bag Workshop

The first MBA brown bag lunch is set for Friday March 20 from 11:30 a.m. to 12:45 p.m. in the 706 Fairfax St, Apt B-101. The topics will be resume writing, networking, cover letters, and interviewing techniques. This will be the first in a series of two sessions this semester. SPACE IS LIMITED. The second session (in April) will include mock interviews with area HR professionals using your revised resumes. If you are interested in participating, please contact the MBA office at rumba@radford.edu or 831-6905.

Beta Gamma Sigma Taps MBA Students

The MBA program would like to congratulate the individuals who have been tapped by Beta Gamma Sigma Business Honor Society for the Spring semester. The MBA students who were tapped are Vernon Anderson, Anthony Bordogna, Mark Bruce, Justin Chantnicki, Kristen Dailey, Dale Grgurich, Olga Pogorelsky, Michael Orr, and Emily Wong. The MBA program had more individuals tapped than any other department in the College of Business and Economics. Congratulations!

MBA Students Featured by Graduate College

Congratulations to Deborah Kitts, JJ Porter, and Emily Wong who have been selected as Featured Graduate Students for the coming months by the Graduate College! These students were nominated by faculty or staff in COBE for their on-going contributions to the MBA program. Please visit <http://gradcollege.asp.radford.edu/index.html> in the coming months for more information.
